JAM: The Journal of Aboriginal Management Writing Guidelines

AFOA Canada is very pleased to offer JAM: The Journal of Aboriginal Management – the only professional journal in Canada for Aboriginal Professionals working in the finance, management and leadership fields. This semi-annual journal focuses on professional trends and innovations in Aboriginal finance, management and leadership. It includes interviews with leaders and articles from experts that profile community-based initiatives and best practices

This Journal is intended to help you be on the leading-edge of key Aboriginal finance, management and leadership issues that will impact your career and business.

If you are interested in writing an article for JAM, please contact
